

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS :

- 1.A rotatory wireless USB network interface card setup including a wireless network interface card, an USB connector, a USB connector
5 fastener, a rotating and swing mechanism, characterized in that the said wireless network interface card can rotate within the range of 270 ° , and swing up and down within the range of 180° , with the said rotating and swing mechanism between the said USB connector and the said wireless network interface card being pivot, whereof the said
10 rotating and swing mechanism's shape likes T, with two axes intersecting each other perpendicularly and splitting into upper and lower halves which are fastened together by connector fastener and setup cover separately.
- 2.Invention according to claim 1 further including groove in the said 15 rotating and swing mechanism for being engaged with the said setup cover.
- 3.Invention according to claim 1 further including groove in the said rotating and swing mechanism for being engaged with the said USB connector fastener.
- 20 4.Invention according to claim 1 further including slip-proof washer ring between the said rotating and swing mechanism and the said setup cover.

5.Invention according to claim 1 further including slip-proof washer ring between the said rotating and swing mechanism and the said USB connector fastener.